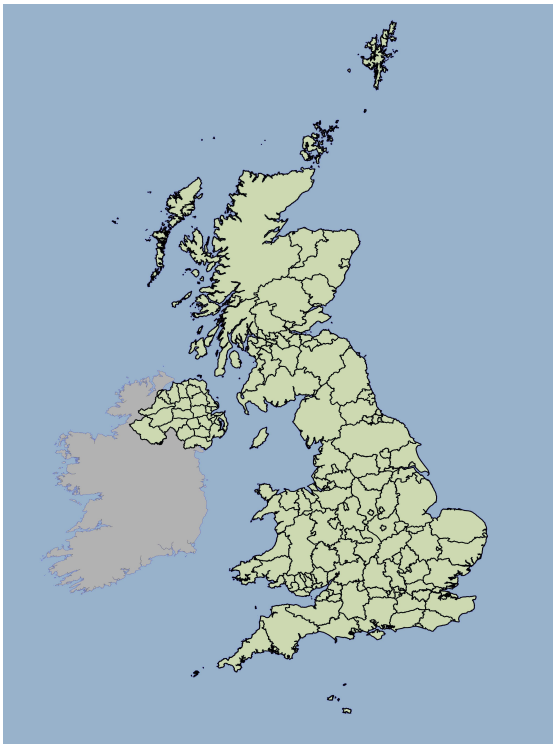
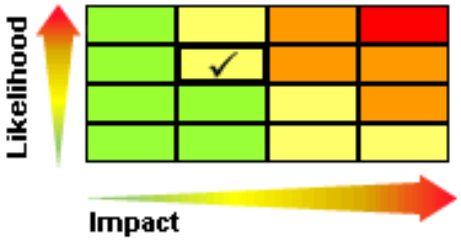
National Severe Weather Warning Service





CANCELLED

Chief Forecasters Assessment
A mild, moist west to southwesterly airstream will bring further rainfall, turning heavier and more persistent as a front comes through on Tuesday, with 30-50 mm or so. In most areas this should cause no more than some rather tricky driving conditions, but rivers do seem likely to rise again and bring the risk of flooding.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Rain

Valid from 09:00 on Tue, 23rd Dec 2014 until 23:00 on Tue, 23rd Dec 2014

Heavy rain will affect North Wales on Tuesday. Given high river levels from recent heavy rain, the public should be aware of the risk of further flooding, for example affecting some roads.
